Yesterday Begasus, that husly-loving slap-loving belgian ported the free turn-based strategy game Freeciv beta to Haiku, one of his many ports so far. He managed to port the game's latest beta and got it running on Haiku GCC4. He also tried the latest stable version but it was unstable so he went to the beta, which gets no complaints from us at all. Head over to his website and give it a try. Good job Luc.
